

Little athletes win backing

A major sponsorship of the Cranbourne Little Athletics Club is Botanic Ridge's latest contribution to community development.

The sponsorship will help support the club until 2011 and encourage children and families to embrace a healthy, active lifestyle, helping to build better communities.

Club chairman Kevin Bradford said he was excited to have Botanic Ridge on board and looking forward to a fun-filled season ahead.

He said the support would allow the club to fund equipment, uniforms and, ultimately, reduce the need to increase fees.

"We are proud to have a partner in Botanic Ridge that is keen to become involved in the community and support our little athletes.

"It will be fantastic to have them involved in various club events, especially the regional event and award presentation."

Botanic Ridge development manager Joe

Cassera said that following the success of the Cranbourne Cricket Club sponsorship, Botanic Ridge was keen to become involved in other areas of the energetic community. He said well-funded activities, such as little athletics, attracted more participants, leading to a healthier, happier community.

"We are thrilled to be the partners of Cranbourne Little Athletics to provide young athletes with a supportive competition and club atmosphere in our area."

Botanic Ridge's beautifully presented Acacia Precinct has 32 semi-rural lots surrounded by natural parkland and leisure areas.
